THE VISUAL ROADMAP / VERSION 0.5

Bumpy has plans.

- A crypto home with a point of view.

  News. Information. Learning. Tools. A side of humour. A place to question the noise, try ideas and enjoy building something together.

- The direction

  Understand the market. Build a Pond. Test its rules. Learn from the result. Explore making a worthwhile basket shareable as one token.

“An ambitious plan. I have brought a supervisory expression.”

01 / LIVE AND IMPROVING

A working foundation.

- Read and question

  Sourced news, archives, Royal Receipts, Ask Bumpy and the community. Facts and royal opinions have their own places.

- Watch and organise

  Market tools with freshness labels. My Pond accounts, saved stories and followed topics.

- Choose and confirm

  Pond Wallet supports its configured ETH/$ROYALBUMPY flow. The user confirms transactions; Bumpy does not trade for them.

- Spend effort where it matters

  From 2 November: one illustrated headline per drop, reused for X and the eligible Telegram relay. Supporting stories stay text-led. Up to five new editorial images daily.

“More useful tools. Fewer portraits of management.”

02 / PRIVATE DEVELOPMENT - NEXT

Give an idea a Pond.

- Choose a thesis

  Build a basket of tokens with visible rules, weights and a reason for being together.

- Try it first

  Run practice experiments. Compare fairly, include costs and show the uncomfortable bits as well as the gains.

- Keep the reasoning

  Explore a versioned experiment record: sources, assumptions, changes and lessons. Learn from other Ponds without confusing popularity with quality.

- Earn a wider beta

  The owner tests the complete mobile journey first. The public PondLab page is coming soon; public experiments and real-money baskets are not open.

“A theory is welcome. We shall also require the workings.”

03 / LONGER-TERM RESEARCH

A basket others could hold.

- The ambition

  Mint an eligible Pond collection or index into a single backed token that other people could hold and trade.

- The work beneath it

  Define real backing, custody, share accounting, fees, creator powers and redemption. Test exits and failures before inviting deposits.

- Separate from $ROYALBUMPY

  Each proposed Pond token would have its own rights and basket. $ROYALBUMPY remains the community token; it does not automatically own or back those baskets.

- A research gate, not a launch

  Compare existing protocols with a custom design and non-tokenised experiments. Demand, legal review, security, funding and liquidity come before a pilot.

“One token on the surface. Rather a lot to check underneath.”

04 / EXPLORING - NO LIVE BENEFITS PROMISED

A useful role for the token.

- Tools people want

  Explore optional PondLab access, service payments or fee benefits. Make the tool useful before adding a token requirement.

- Contributions worth rewarding

  Consider opted-in creator tips and clearly defined, funded bounties. Keep news and ordinary community participation open.

- Keep room for play

  Meme tools, quizzes and community challenges remain possibilities. Staking stays deferred research with funding and withdrawal questions to resolve.

- Grow with evidence

  Keep building in public. Record what shipped, what changed and what did not work. Broader access follows testing, resources and review; there are no fixed release dates or promised returns.

“Sceptical. Curious. Occasionally useful. Still a toad.”